THE VAMPIRES TODAY

"The Vampires, or the Arch Criminals of Paris" is a photo-novel written by Louis Feuillade, the distinguished French motion picture director of the Gaumont Company. His position in France has been attained by a succession of notable achievements. Among his more important pictures is this wonderful screen drama of the arch criminals of Paris. It has had an instantaneous success in France, England and the colonies, as well as in other countries. The King of Spain was so interested after seeing the first three chapters that he ordered a "communi" showing of the remaining episodes at the palace. This was attended by King Alfonso, Queen Victoria and their suites. "The Vampires" is now shown for the first time in America. This picture will be shown at the Pastime today. Also "Robinson Crusoe." A big double show today.

TWO MEN INJURED

(Tripley Rec)
William Berry was probably fatally injured and Peyton Brooks received a broken arm and three broken ribs when three beams in the Cornick's turn railroad bridge fell, Monday afternoon.

These men, both colored, were employed with the crew of men tearing up the Ohio River & Columbus railroad.

Brooks, with Garfield Reynolds, was working on top of the bridge, while Berry was employed on the ground beneath. When the top supports were removed these beams, not being anchored underneath, fell carrying Brooks and Reynolds with them. Both men were thrown into the water below Brooks being injured as stated above.

So quickly did the accident happen that Berry was unable to get out of the way and a heavy timber struck him fracturing his skull, breaking three ribs and his shoulder. So great was the impact that the injured man had to be dug out of the mud. Other than a bad shaking up Reynolds was not hurt.

The injured men were hurried to the offices of Drs. Tyler & Tyler, where their injuries were attended. Berry was later taken to the home of his brother on North Main street, and his condition is considered serious. Brooks was able to be about later in the day.

Mrs. Letitia Henderson, widow of Lewis D. Henderson Co. G. 13 Reg. U. S. A. Heavy Artillery, has been granted through Pension Attorney Nannie McKelup Peoples of this city widow's original pension.

ENGLAND'S TARIFF CHANGE

In presenting their briefs in favor of free trade, our Democratic brethren used to be very fond of pointing to England as a shining example of the beneficence of that policy. Admiral Chadwick, retired, recently got out of his element and blamed tariffs as one of the prime causes of war.

England adopted the free trade policy in 1846 because her industries had developed to such a pitch, under protection, that she could produce more cheaply than any other country, and she wished to convert the world to that belief in order that her goods would encounter no tariff barriers. It was good business.

Germany, under Bismarck, adopted the protective policy in 1897 because, prior to that, every time a German mill started operations English price-cutting began and continued until the mill had gone into bankruptcy. Germany has been a protective country since 1879, and under that policy her industrial development had been so great that she became England's bitterest trade rival, and the most dangerous. It is beautiful to talk of a way of humanity, upholding principles of social justice, and all that, but the underlying cause of the present European struggle is commercial rivalry, and the center of the stage in the great drama is held by Germany and England. Germany was selling her goods in English markets, and grabbing English foreign trade. England was getting the very deal she had handed others a half century before.

Now England has decided to return to the protective policy. She is convinced it is good medicine for her, but she will not prescribe it for anyone else. British India enterprisers believe that they can develop an important cotton textile industry there if they can have a little protection on their goods. India recently raised an immense sum for the support of British armies, and one of the favors asked was permission to raise the duties on cotton textiles, which was promised them, so they increased the tariff on cotton goods from 3½ to 7½ cents ad valorem, to us an insignificant duty, but to India manufacturers employing labor at 10 cents a day, an important increase.

What a spasm that increase has caused among the manufacturers of Manchester, England, the very breed that subsidized Richard Cobden to go forth and preach to all nations the word of free trade! They recently appeared before Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for India, and declared that the proposed tariff increase was the greatest blow ever struck at the cotton industry and would result in the closing of the mills. They threatened that their political power would be used to oppose the Lloyd George government unless the duty were withdrawn.

These are the patriots that make it hot for our cotton manufacturers every time the Democrats get into power. How the pendulum swings! These same Manchester men fought the great English protectionist, Joseph Chamberlain, to a standstill. Now they are suing to his son. But the Lloyd George government is going to stand by its promise to India, first, because nations are finding that it is the best policy to keep promises, second, because the sentiment of England today is not so set against protection, and third, perhaps, because England may need another $500,000,000 from India before long.

Protection does not cause war, rather has it an opposite effect. Nations dealing with a protected country know their limitations, but there are no limitations in a free trade country, and idle hands cause discontent.

SHOWS LACK OF CONFIDENCE

The President's purpose to provide arms for American ships in advance of Congressional action was promptly communicated to the nations of the world by the State Department, acting through the Legations here. This was not done entirely for the information of the other powers, and was intended, further, as a gentle hint that the United States would be glad of company in this action of defiance of the Teutonic warning to get off the ocean.

In Congress and in military and naval circles—not to say among diplomats—this is looked upon as a weak feature in an otherwise strong proceeding. It is, however, a logical consequence of that earlier act of Mr. Wilson's in requesting the neutrals of the world to follow his lead in severing diplomatic relations with Germany; and both steps serve to impress publicists, here and abroad, with a feeling that the President does not have sufficient confidence in his own policies or that he is doubtful of the extent to which the people of his own country will sustain his course. Otherwise, these gentlemen inquire, why should Mr. Wilson seek co-operation in a matter where he is right, where his country is powerful enough to act alone, and where public sentiment has never hitherto failed to rally to the support of an administration which stood energetically for the national dignity?

This query penetrates to the heart of any inquiry into the President's amazing course for the past two years, and it is impossible to answer it fully or satisfactorily. The fact is that the President has always taken a too prolonged counsel of prudence. With him a problem evaded has always been a problem solved. The submarine problem has now reached a point where it cannot be longer evaded, and the President has hesitated to deal with it alone. Instead of recognizing that a situation now exists where patience ceases to be a virtue, where the country and all the world will realize the gravity of our grievances against Germany, and where the country will sustain and the world will applaud his action—Mr. Wilson still showed reluctance to go ahead as of the United States alone, and sought companionship in his defiance of the German edict. This has seriously weakened the strength of his position, diplomatically at any rate; and it probably has also weakened the political effect at home of his belated and attenuated courage.

WHERE WE LOSE TRADE

Has Secretary Redfield overlooked Paraguay in his wonderful propaganda for export trade? Great Britain monopolized 30 per cent of the import trade of that country during 1916, the United States but 5.2 per cent. Our exports to Paraguay during 1916 declined 60 per cent, compared with 1913, a Republican tariff year, but there was an increase in our imports from that country. Is Paraguay beneath Mr. Redfield's notice?

NEUTRAL TRADE TO BE REDUCED LORD ROBERT CECIL SAYS ALLIES' BLOCKADE OF GERMANY NOT YET COMPLETE.

London, March 27.—William A. S. Hewins and Carlton W. Bellairs, Unionist members of the House of Commons, this afternoon raised the question of the effectiveness of the British blockade and the difficulties of enforcing it, during a debate in the House. Mr. Bellairs said the difficulty had been largely removed when the United States, "the most powerful and most critical neutral," came in on the side of the Entente Allies.

Lord Robert Cecil, minister of blockade, assured the members of the House that the closest co-operation existed between the admiralty and his department.

Lord Robert, in reviewing all the steps that had been adopted in connection with the blockade, emphasized the value of rationing by an agreement with some body in a neutral country as more smooth and effective than compulsory rationing.

Lord Robert still felt, however, that everything necessary had not been done to complete the blockade of Germany. There was the question of the home produce, of border neutrals which was a most difficult subject. He said he had arrived at the conclusion that the only way to deal with this matter was by securing agreements with neutrals to stop or diminish such trade.

The blockade minister went at great length into the difficulty surrounding any attempt to compel neutral countries to sever all trade relations with Germany. The technical and military positions of those countries had to be considered, he said. Concerning Denmark Lord Robert said the government believed the agreement with Denmark had been honestly carried out and that there was no reason to modify the present blockade policy as affecting Denmark.

Sir Edward Carson, first lord of the admiralty, characterized as absurd the demands that the blockade should be left to the navy as suggested in the House of Lords by Admiral Lord Charles Horesford, retired.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Maysville Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Maysville adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

Frank Taylor, Prop. barber shop, 401 E. Second St., Maysville, says: "A few months ago, I had a slight attack of kidney trouble and my kidneys were irregular in action. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and then again, were scanty and highly colored. I had a dull, steady ache through the small of my back and my back was weak. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Chanslor's Drug Store, cured me of the complaint."

Mr. Taylor is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that cured Mr. Taylor—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50¢ all stores. DISMISSED REFUSED IN HOME CONSPIRACY CASE

New York, March 27—After a statement had been admitted in evidence that 250 shells for fire bombs had been manufactured in twelve days on board a German merchant steamship tied up at Hoboken, N. J., the government late today closed its case against Captain Charles Von Kleist and five other Germans on trial for conspiracy to destroy vessels carrying munitions from American ports to the Entente Allies. Counsel for the defendants moved for dismissal, but Judge Van Fleet, presiding, declared there was "ample evidence of conspiracy if the jury should find it sufficient."

Counsel for the defense told the jury they would attempt to show that their clients had no guilty knowledge of the uses to which the fire bombs were to be put. Captain Thomas J. Tunney, in charge of the bomb squad of the New York police department, one of the last witnesses for the government, testified, however, that Von Kleist, in a statement to him, had implicated all the defendants. He said also Von Kleist had told him about two suit cases filled with bombs that presumably were to be taken to New Orleans by two men.

Why not try a Ledger Want Ad? TAFT WELCOMES RUSSIA TO FAMILY OF LIBERTY

New York, March 27—William H. Taft has authorized the following statement of his view of the Russian revolution:

"The end of absolutism in Russia is the first great triumph of this war. That it could be accomplished without widespread violence and bloodshed is a marvel in history. The great Russian nation under the influence of civil liberty will blossom into a leading and useful and progressive member of the family of nations. Its freedom forebodes as we all hope, the end of the military dynasty whose ambition and whose present fight for existence are the only bar to peace, with Russian and Germany both under the rule of their people."

"This war, dreadful as it is, will not have been fought in vain and abiding peace for the world will be at hand. Against our will and void of offense, we of the United States have been forced into struggle. Let us not hesitate now to unite with England, France and their allies in their fight for mankind and to render them all the effective aid possible to hasten victory and a just and equitable peace."

RAILROADS SEEK INCREASED RATES

Washington, March 27—General advances in freight rates will be sought, probably within the next ten days, by railroads in every section of the United States. Preliminary steps were taken today by virtually all railroads concerned in an informal conference with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Definite announcement was made that the advance asked for Eastern railroads would be 15 per cent on all commodities except ore, bituminous coal and coke. Representatives of Western lines, while not stating specifically the percentage of increase desired, indicated that they, too, would ask for 15 per cent. Railroads of the Southwest submitted figures showing that increases ranging between 18 and 21 4-10 per cent were needed to meet additional costs of operation already existing in the case of live lines. Southern railroads probably will determine the percentage of increase desired at a conference here next Friday. No authority will be sought, under present proceedings, to increase passenger fares.

One Dissenting Voice

In addition to the proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning interstate rates, spokesmen for the railroads let it be known that they are preparing to go before every state railroad and public utilities commission in the Union to ask for authority to increase their freight tariffs on interstate trade. But one dissenting voice was raised at today's conference. A. E. Helm, representing the public utilities commission of Kansas, cited figures to uphold his contention that the railroad emergency was not so pressing as it had been depicted, and that net incomes of the roads last year were tremendously greater than the year before. He protested against authorization by the commission of general increases without full investigation in advance.

Protests Pour In

In the case of all railroads except those in the South, the request for amendment of the rules so as to permit a prompt and general advance in rates was based primarily on the ground that the cost of labor, fuel, equipment and supplies had risen to unexpected levels, and that taxes also were much higher than last year. President Harrison, of the Southern railroad, speaking for Southern lines, declared the roads of his section were prosperous and would continue to make money, even under present conditions, but that without an advance in rate they "could not grow."

The prime need of Southern railroads, he said, was critical and this could not be obtained with earning capacity curtailed as under present conditions.

INTERRED GERMANS SHOW DEFERENCE TO U. S. FLAG

Atlanta, Ga., March 27—The 750 officers and men of the German navy who sought refuge in American waters on the cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm and Prinz Friedrich, were sought to Georgia on special trains today and placed for safekeeping in stockades at Fort McPherson and Fort Oglethorpe, under guard of the seventh infantry.

The men from the Wilhelm's crew arrived at Fort McPherson, Captain Thierfeldt and eight German officers were met by officers of the seventh infantry and taken to Colonel Noyes. After a court introduction of himself, the captain presented each of the other officers, and then was told by Colonel Noyes that "I have sent for you that I might know you and that you might know me." He had preceded no further when Captain Thierfeldt said:

"My men are military men just the same as you and we will give no pledges."

"We have arranged to take care of you as well as possible," Colonel Noyes continued. "But future conditions will depend largely upon yourself."

While the men were being counted, retreat was sounded and the regiment band began to play the "Star-Spangled Banner," as the flag was lowered. Just as it began its descent, Captain Thierfeldt called his men to attention and it was held until the colors were down.

U. S. IS INCOMPARABLY WORLD'S RICHEST NATION

Washington, March 27—American national banks have set anew high record for resources, again revealing the United States as incomparably the richest nation in the world.

Comptroller Williams announced tonight that on March 5, the date of the last bank call, the assets of the national banks aggregated more than $16,000,000,000, exceeding by over $5,000,000 the combined resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Italy, the Bank of Spain, the Bank of Norway, the Bank of Sweden, the Swiss National Bank, the National Bank of Denmark, the Bank of Japan and the Reichsbank of Germany.

"As the total resources of all national banks on April 4, 1913, amounted to only $11,081,000,000 the increase of resources for the past four years has amounted to $5,000,000,000."

"The amount of the bonds of foreign governments and of other foreign securities held by our national banks on March 5, was approximately $338,000,000 or but little more than two per cent of the total resources. The increase as compared with December 27, was $16,000,000 and as compared with November 17, was $40,000,000."

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good. Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

are expected to be present on Mon-

SOCK SOCIAL

To Be Held by the Young Women's Association of the First Baptist Church on Friday Night for the Dodson Fund.

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church is giving a Sock Social in the church parlors on Friday evening in honor of Miss Flora Dodson who will graduate from the Woman's Training Department of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., next June.
Miss Dodson has made application to the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention for an appointment to do mission work in China. Miss Dodson taught in the local city school and made many friends while here. The Y. W. A. invites all to attend the social event if a sock has not been received by them and they will be supplied with a sock at the door of the church. The refreshments will be served free of cost to all who may attend. Let the following lines constitute your invitation:

To the "Sock Social" you are invited,
And if you'll come, we'll be delighted.
Friday night, March 30th, answers
"When?"
At First Baptist Church from 7 till 10.
This entertainment is for the "Dodson Fund."
We want to send her a large fat sum,
So stuff these stockings with pennies full.
Then give the string a good tight pull.
Two pennies an inch for the size of your socks,
Is the way we're to fill this Dodson box.
So if you wear a number nine,
Bring 18 pennies and come on time.

To the social room, if you gain access,
You must come attired in tacky dress.
Ridiculous costumes for boys and girls.
With pasted hair and spit-made curls.
Now when you partake of the bill of fare,
You'll sure be glad that you are there.
Laughter and fun will have full sway.
Pray accept this invitation from the

PULLET 707 EQUALS WORLD REC- ORD: CHAMPIONSHIP EGG EXPECTED TODAY

Lexington, March 29—Pullet 707 yesterday laid her eighty-second consecutive egg.

The egg arrived at five minutes after eight. The hen had been making over at the nest since early morning.
The official counting committee had appeared at daybreak and was peering through the netting. Every time the hen would go toward the nest they would all exert themselves to the uttermost at neck craning trying to see if she looked like she was laying. Sometime she did and sometime she didn't, but up until 8:03 o'clock she scampered off the nest leaving the committee in great dread.
Then the appointed minute came and the egg was laid. It was weighed and found to weigh two and one-tenth ounces. The championship egg is the largest the pullet has produced.
